

Carolyn Freeman

biography

Carolyn Freeman is more than just a singer. She is more than just a performer singing other's music. Carolyn Freeman is a songwriter. She is an artist, sharing her thoughts and her heart with her audience.

Carolyn Freeman wrote her first song at the young age of eight years old. After that pivotal day in her life, Carolyn continued to write songs and sing, mainly ministering at youth rallies and camp meeting during her teenage years.

As she grew older, Carolyn began singing and traveling with her parents, The Freeman Family. It was during this time that Carolyn sharpened and honed her skills as a songwriter, and also where she learned how to communicate her heart with an audience.

The group eventually had to come off the road. In an effort to keep the group alive, Carolyn enlisted the help of different members of her family to sing with her, such as her siblings, children, etc. Carolyn had to finally leave the road in 1999 to take care of her parents. However, Carolyn still had that burning desire to sing and see others know the Lord through her ministry. At that point, Carolyn embarked on her solo career.

Since that day, Carolyn has been traveling the long roads and staying up the late hours to reach as many people as she can.

"The main desire of my ministry is to do it 'with soul purpose,'" said Carolyn. "In other words, in everything I write and everywhere I sing, I make sure that those songs communicate the message of Jesus Christ and His love to those to which I am ministering."

Carolyn is no respecter of venue or avenue in which she can minister to others. Whether it is at a nursing home, street ministry, or a church, Carolyn stays focused on what her calling is.

"I do what I do to reach the lost and become knowledgeable in my singing, writing, etc." said Carolyn.

